MEMORIAL SERVICE

Rabbi:

Our God and God of our fathers, in this hour sacred to memory, when the past and the future merge, we thank Thee for the blessings that have come to us through the love and devotion of our dear ones.

For many of us, this hour recalls the memory of beloved parents whom Thou hast removed from their earthly tasks and called unto Thyself. We are ever mindful of the devotion with which they tended and guided us, the sacrifices they made, the joys and comforts they brought us, the teachings and traditions they sought to impart unto us. They are forever bound to us by undying love.

There are those among us who call to mind a departed husband or wife. They recall the affectionate bonds formed in Thy presence, the faith and understanding, the struggles and hopes, the trials and griefs, the fears and joys they shared together.

There are parents in our midst who mourn a beloved child taken from them in the freshness and vigor of youth, for whom they planned and hoped, upon whom they lavished loving care and affection. There are those who recall a sister or brother, now no longer among the living, with whom they grew up in happy fellowship, loyal and devoted companions who shared with them the experiences of childhood and youth.

With tender emotion we all recall friends and companions who were dear to us in life and whose friendship and understanding were a constant blessing to us.

אֲנִי בְצַדִּיק אַחֲזָה סִנְיָף אֲשַׁבְּעָה בְּהִקְוֶה תְּמוֹנָתְךָ:

Lord, what is man that Thou art mindful of him? or the son of man, that Thou takest account of him?

Man is like to vanity: his days are as a shadow that passes away.

In the morning he blooms and sprouts afresh; in the evening he is cut down and withers away.

So teach us to number our days that we may get us a heart of wisdom.

Mark the innocent man, and behold the upright; for the latter end of that man is peace.

God alone will redeem my soul from the grasp of the grave: for He will receive me. Selah.

My flesh and my heart fail: but God is the strength of my heart and my portion forever.

The dust returns to the earth as it was, but the spirit returns unto God who gave it.

I shall behold Thy face in righteousness; I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with Thy likeness.

FOREWORD

The purpose of this booklet, which we place in the hands of our worshippers at the Yizkor hour, is to provide a medium for memorializing our beloved departed in dignity and reverent beauty.

At Yizkor time, we become gratefully aware of the God-given blessing called memory. Through memory we confer immortality upon the souls of our dear ones. They continue to abide among us. They teach us, they inspire us, they comfort us. At this time, we understand what the poet Whittier meant when he wrote: "Grant but memory to us and we can lose nothing by death."

May this Yizkor hour be more than an experience of grief. May it serve as an inspiration to nobler living.
